

LTEN 178/ ETHN 168 Comparative Ethnic Literature: Environmental Crises, Race, and US Literatures

Sang Eun Eunice Lee (sel160@ucsd.edu)

Summer Session II

Through various texts from poetry and graphic novels to visual media, this course will explore how communities in the US navigate through and resist environmental crises and racism.

Synchronous online meeting time:

TuTh 10 am-10:50 am PST

(subject to change per student needs)

Course materials will be provided for free.

This course will satisfy

- major/minor requirements for Literature and Ethnic Studies
 - DEI requirement
- TMC significant writing
- ERC upper-division writing
- Sixth College social analysis
 - Revelle social sciences
 - Warren PofCs

