

LTSP 116
MWF 9:00-
9:50 am

REPRESENTATIONS OF SPANISH COLONIALISM

Winter 2023

This course, taught in Spanish, explores various forms cultural production centered around the notion of colonialism and resistance in Abiayala / Latin America. We will engage sources such as chronicles, letters, art, architecture, and maps from what is known as the "colonial period," as well as representations by contemporary writers and artists to reflect on colonial legacies in topics like race, territory, autonomy, as well as traditions of resistance in the continent and beyond.

Fulfills:

- Spanish lit major (LT33)'s pre-1900 course requirement.
- Spanish language concentration for the World Literature and Culture major.
- Region (The Americas) concentration for the World Literature and Culture major.

Please contact Prof. ignacio carvajal should you have any questions!

jcarvajalregidor@ucsd.edu