

U.S. Latino/a and Latin American Literatures

A new major!

The Department of Literature offers a bilingual major that allows students to do half their coursework in English and half in Spanish: the U.S. Latino/a and Latin American Literatures major.

Requirements:

1. Two lower-division courses:
  - o LTSP 50B. Latin American Literature or LTSP 50C. Latin American Literature
  - o LTEN 29 or TWS 22
2. Five upper-division courses from Latin American literature offerings taught in Spanish. At least one of these courses must deal with literature written before 1900.
3. Five upper-division courses dealing with Latino/a- Chicano/a cultural production; these Literature courses may be Literatures in English courses, Literature of the Americas courses, or Cultural Studies courses, all taught in English.
4. Two additional upper-division courses from the Department of Literature for a total of twelve upper-division courses. Students may petition to have up to two relevant courses from other departments or programs count towards this requirement.

U.S. Latino Street Art

Representation of Colonial Castas